

WEST VIRGINIA BRIEFS

HUNTINGTON: The eating of unions three times daily is being practiced and recommended by John S. Marcum, prominent attorney, who is also a noted city lot farmer, for longevity. Habitual eaters of onions, he declares, live long and happily.

PARKERSBURG: The headquarters of the West Virginia State Board of Trade has been transferred from Wheeling to this city as the result of the recent election of Henry B. Archer, of this city, as secretary to succeed Roy B. Naylor, of Wheeling.

FAIRMONT: Great excitement reigned in a ten-cent store here when a steer broke away from a drove in the street, walked into the store, dived into a fancy counter and scattered its contents. Girl clerks and customers led to the rear in a panic. The frightened animal was finally caught. No one was hurt.

PARKERSBURG: Robert Andrew Sorg, son of Louis P. Sorg and freshman in the city high school, died at St. Joseph's hospital of typhoid fever.

WHEELING: More than 5,000 bushels of nuts gathered in the Kanawha valley are being taken to Pittsburgh markets aboard the packet steamer Kanawha, showing that the West Virginia nut crop this year is plentiful.

MOUNDSVILLE: G. D. Polidexter has purchased the Theatrum, a motion picture house, from Peter's Brothers and has taken charge.

WHEELING: LaBelle iron works stockholders in special session unanimously approved a bond issue of $7,500,000 for improvements. Two millions will be spent immediately for a coke plant on the West Virginia side of the Ohio river opposite the company's works at Steubenville, O., and it is proposed to spend half a million for a bridge to connect the two properties.

FAIRMONT: William Gregg, of near Fairview, had his right leg torn off and received other serious injuries when caught in the fly wheel of a gas engine while working for the South Penn Oil Company on the Phoebe Steele farm in Monongalia county. He was brought to Cook's hospital here.

ST. ALBANS: The promoters of the St. Albans Bottle Works announce that their plant will be in operation November 1. The company will employ about fifty men at the start.

CHARLESTON: Out of patience with the large number of habitual drinkers here, Judge L. D. Vickers forcibly demonstrated it by fining Robert Vickers $25 and announcing that the fines for such offenses hereafter would be equally stiff.

PIEDMONT: F. B. Bobo, a clerk in Nell's store, was held up at the point of a revolver by a highwayman while on his way to supper, but suddenly grabbed the weapon, turned it on the thug and made him run. Bobo is now ahead a handsome revolver valued at $13.

CHARLESTON: E. E. Winters, chief railroad inspector of West Virginia is trying to make the state public service commission compel all street car companies operating in the state to provide fenders on every car.

CHARLESTON: Lee Ott, chairman of the workmen's compensation department, announces that the United States Coal and Coke Company will withdraw from the compensation fund November 1. Mr. Ott says that General Edward O'Toole, manager of the company's business, has arranged to pay over $17,000 as the company's share of the fund's present obligations.

PARKERSBURG: The plant of the Parkersburg Brewing Company, which once turned out beer, will hereafter produce ice cream as its product. The members of the brewing company have organized the National Ice Cream Manufacturing Company with a capital stock of $150,000.

MARTINSBURG: Albert D. G. George Graham was killed today when he attempted to board a Baltimore and Ohio freight train near his home, a few miles below here.

CHARLESTON: The home of George Fields, of Glendennin, was wrecked and an infant narrowly escaped injury when a huge rock bounded down the mountain side, upon the dwelling. The bed in which the infant was lying was demolished, but the child was uninjured and when found in the debris was playing with its toes. Rain had loosened the rock from the mountain side.

HUNTINGTON: Two thousand stockings have been ordered by the civic department of the Women's Club here. They will be used on the municipal Christmas tree.

PARKERSBURG: Coming here from their home in Roseville for the purpose of being married between trials, as their time was limited, Miss Thura Barron and Arthur Harris, with only fifteen minutes to spare until train time, decided to ask the first person they met after securing a license. There to find the nearest minister. The person they met happened to be the Rev. L. B. Moore, a Baptist minister. They adjourned to the O. J. Stout drug store and with the stenographer as bridesmaid and the prescription clerk as best man they were wed.

MANY GRABERS

Thirty-five Persons of That Name Reside in Kansas Town.

PRETTY PRAIRIE, Kan., Oct. 29.—Having read of the twenty-five Gunnett families living in Stover town, Pa., a Kansas correspondent is prompted to state that this village can beat that record by ten families having the same name—Graber. The Graber families are mostly all large ones, some having as many as fifteen members. Our postmaster has a time getting the mail to the proper persons.

There are eight John Grabers who are heads of families, also ten Peter Grabers enjoying the same distinction. Other Grabers are Henry, Jacob, Ben, Andrew, not forgetting Joseph C., the man that kissed Bryan at Kingman, who lives here instead of at Murdock, as reported.

Three initials, such as Jacob C. H., Ben P. O. and Peter D. A. are quite common here, and they are thinking of starting a four initial plan. Merchants have to be very careful to get the right initials when Grabers are customers, so that the right party gets the goods or the wrong party is not charged for them.

Led "Dog's Life", Says Man in Asking Divorce

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29.—Sleeping in the room and the bed with as many as fifteen dogs is a dog's life, according to Edward Flader, a former saloon keeper, now living in Bellevue, who recently sued for divorce. The dogs belonged to his wife, Ida, the petition stated. It is said that she also permitted chickens a free run-way of the saloon, and when Flader attempted to drive out the dogs he says his wife threatened him with a club.

BUSH LEAGUE STAR WILL OFTEN RISE OR FALL WITH TEAM HE PLAYS WITH

The success of a recruit from the bushes often depends greatly on the team he signs with. It has been seen again and again that a promising youngster from the brush can soon lose all his eagerness and pep if the players about him are listless and lazy. On the other hand there have been cases of ordinary young players who have been so fortunate as to get a berth with a speedy bunch and who have blossomed forth with great class thereafter.
